

Fisheries Program Manager

The Nuuchahnulth Tribal Council (NTC) is seeking an experienced leader to take on the exciting, full-time opportunity of Fisheries Program Manager. The position oversees all aspects of the NTC Fisheries Program (Uu-a-thluk), advancing Nuuchahnulth interests in fisheries access, management, and employment. Based out of Port Alberni, the position requires frequent travel to all Nuuchahnulth territories and other locations in BC.

Job Overview: Leading an efficient and effective team within a well-established fisheries program, the Fisheries Program Manager works for the 14 Nuuchahnulth First Nations to achieve a wide variety of fisheries related goals and objectives. The Fisheries Program Manager coordinates Nuuchahnulth fisheries policy and technical support and reports to the NTC Executive, Directors, Ha'wiih, Nations and their members.

Required Qualifications

- Undergraduate or graduate degree in Biology, Fisheries or Aquatic Science
- Minimum five years experience in fisheries management leadership roles
- Practical experience in fish population and aquatic ecology assessments, stock assessment, and restoration planning and implementation
- Understanding of fisheries issues, policies and legislation affecting BC First Nations, with ability to interpret and provide strategic direction with respect to federal and provincial government initiatives
- Demonstrated ability to develop funding proposals, manage agreements and budgets, and report effectively to funders
- Knowledge of marine and coastal governance structures and approaches as these impact fisheries
- Solid track record of building and maintaining relationships across a wide spectrum of participants in management and governance processes
- Experience working with First Nations and ability to function in a cross-cultural environment
- Strong verbal and written communication skills
- Possess a valid BC Driver's License and reliable vehicle for business travel
- Provide references and an acceptable criminal record check
- Able to demonstrate compliance with NTC's "double vaccination" COVID-19 policy

Competitive Benefits and Salary Range: $90,000 – $127,000 commensurate with education and experience.
