By working in an employment environment, the client is supported in making informed occupational choices, enhancing skills and employment networking. Placements should be selected based on a client's background, interests and needs, rather than the employer's needs. The purpose is to allow clients to explore occupations, interests, skills and potential customized job opportunities that are a fit for the client. Case-managed BCEA clients are eligible for Unpaid Work Experience when the client requires work experience to assist in successfully achieving employment.
